Answer key

Every answer carries the reason behind it. Read the reason for the questions you got right as well — that is where you find out whether you were right for the right reason.

A. Multiple choice

1. D) can — Modals never take -s in the third person.
2. C) Can — Modal questions are formed by inversion, with no auxiliary do.
3. B) could — Could describes general ability in the past.
4. D) come — The base form always follows a modal, with no to.
5. C) be able to — Can has no infinitive, so be able to is used after another verb.
6. A) Can — Can asks for permission as well as describing ability.
7. D) Could you give me the salt, please? — Could plus please is the softest of these forms.
8. A) was able to — A single successful past action takes was able to rather than could.
9. A) been able — Can has no participle, so been able is used after have.
10. C) Could — A past ability question uses could with inversion.

B. Fill in the blank

1. can — Can describes present ability and never takes -s.
2. Could — Could makes a request politer than can.
3. could — Could describes a general ability in the past.
4. come — The base form follows a modal, with no to.
5. able — Be able to fills the gap where can has no infinitive.
6. Can — Can asks for permission as well as describing ability.
7. were — One successful past action takes was or were able to.
8. able — After have been, able to is the only possible form.

C. Sentence building

1. She can speak three languages fluently.
2. Could you help me for a moment?
3. I could swim before I started school.
4. He can't come to the meeting today.
5. I want to be able to cook.
