Answer key

Every answer carries the reason behind it. Read the reason for the questions you got right as well — that is where you find out whether you were right for the right reason.

A. Multiple choice

1. B) must — Must states a firm requirement, standard in official regulations.
2. D) don't have to — Don't have to means the obligation does not exist, which is what a casual dress code means.
3. A) mustn't — Mustn't is a prohibition: the action is forbidden, not merely unnecessary.
4. C) had to — Must has no past form, so past obligation is expressed with had to.
5. C) Must is usually the speaker's own view, have to comes from outside — Must expresses internal necessity; have to points at an external rule or authority.
6. D) must — Must also expresses confident deduction: the evidence leaves no other conclusion.
7. B) can't — Can't is the negative of deductive must. Mustn't would mean she is forbidden to be there.
8. A) needn't — Needn't removes the necessity without forbidding anything.
9. D) You mustn't park here. — Only mustn't is a prohibition; the other three simply say parking is not required.
10. C) have to — Must cannot form a question with do. Have to behaves like an ordinary verb and can.

B. Fill in the blank

1. must — Must states a firm safety requirement.
2. don't — Don't have to removes the obligation rather than forbidding the action.
3. mustn't — Mustn't is a prohibition, not an absence of necessity.
4. had — Must has no past form, so past obligation uses had to.
5. must — Must draws a confident conclusion from the available evidence.
6. can't — Can't is the negative of deductive must.
7. needn't — Needn't removes the necessity without forbidding anything.
8. Do — Have to forms questions with do, unlike must.

C. Sentence building

2. You do not have to come if you are busy.
